ABR is operated entirely by volunteers who share a love for bicycling. The main goals of the organization are to teach bicycle maintenance skills, to rescue bicycles, and to distribute them to the community. ABR strives to teach members to maintain their own bicycles so they can in turn teach others what they have learned.

Although a bicycle mechanic is the most obvious volunteer role, the organization needs and welcomes people with many other types of skills.

As a valued volunteer member, I will keep the following as my expectations:

I have read ABR operation manual including the ABR Code of Conduct and agree to abide by it.

When I attend ABR shop I will spend the majority of that time in a volunteer capacity.

I agree to volunteer approximately 6 hours per month for ABR. (Volunteering outside of official shop, event, or meeting time counts towards the volunteer time goal.)
